Representative S. A. Witherspoon, of Meridian, Miss., stricken suddenly while addressing a school, died Thursday. He was serving his third term in Congress.

It is again reported that Japan is ready and willing to send a large army to Europe. Just now she is busy arming Russia's millions of soldiers who have nothing to fight with.

Dr. John F. Anderson, late director of the hygienic laboratory of the public health service has resigned, giving up a $4,500 salary to accept one paying $25,000 with a chemical house in New Jersey.

Congressman McKellar has declined Gov. Patterson's challenge for joint debates in Tennessee and there has been an exchange of salty letters. Both candidates will make speaking dates beginning Monday.

Charging that the marriage was obtained by fraud, Mrs. Geo. W. Stearns, married on Monday, sued for divorce on Thursday. She was a double-grasswidow and the day following her marriage went through George's pockets and found some love letters from another woman.

A Berlin dispatch says all soldiers who have been in the field for a year or more are to be granted a furlough, regardless of the fact whether urgent necessity for a leave of absence exists or not, according to a ruling by the War Ministry. The furloughs will doubtless be of short duration.

In a decision rendered by the court of appeals, it was held that foreign assessment insurance companies, doing business in Kentucky, are subject to a tax of two per cent. on premiums paid on business written in this state. This was an appeal by Insurance Commissioner Clay against the Hartford Life Insurance company from the Franklin circuit court, in which that court decided adversely to the state.

Pennsylvania is short of rabbits and has requested Executive Agent J. Q. Ward, of the Game and Fish Commission, to secure thirty-six dozen bunnies from the well-stocked fields of Kentucky. Pennsylvania will pay 35 cents a head for rabbits sent in good condition, and Mr. Ward is corresponding with people, who, he believes, can fill the order. The men who secure the rabbits will receive the full amount offered by the State of Pennsylvania.

Barksdale Hamlett is fighting every inch of ground in the count at Frankfort. He succeeded in knocking out 91 votes in Hart and made an unexpected pick up of 100 votes in Mason county. Lewis has a lead of 115, but 101 of these are in a supplementary report from McCreary county, where they tried to count out Stanley. Hamlett has thrown the matter into the courts and has until Jan. 3 to fight it out. He still says he will win.

A number of years ago Louis Lounpou, a Russian Jew, walked into Frankfort, Ky., with a pack on his back, peddling articles of household goods. He decided to locate and was assisted by M. S. Harris, cashier of the Simpson County Bank, who took a great fancy to Lounpou and tided him over financially when he was in straits. He prospered, and some time ago moved to Tulsa, Okla. The other day he died from wounds self-inflicted and left his entire estate by will, including an insurance policy of $5,000 to Mr. Harris. He did not have any relatives in this country.

GOOD COVER FOR HIVE

One Shown in Illustration Satisfactory for Winter.

It is important that lid be water proof and Nonconducting—Also One That Does Not Require Too Much Painting.

I am not much of an inventor, finding it easier, usually, to adopt the inventions of others. But, after trying the different styles of hive-covers that could be bought, I found it necessary to invent several before I made one that suited me.

I want a cover, above all things, to be water-tight. It ought to lie flat on the hive. For this climate I think it is important to have a nonconducting cover, as far as possible—one that will hold the warmth of the cluster in the spring, and that will keep the super warm during a fall honey-flow. writes C. F. Bender of Newman, Ill., in Gleanings in Bee Culture. If one winters outdoors, a warm cover is worth the extra cost for one winter alone. I wintered outdoors for several years, with no packing except that contained in the covers. It is also important to have one that will last a good many years without too frequent painting. Lightness is a desirable feature, but difficult to get if all the other requirements are filled. The cover I am about to describe fills the bill completely except as to lightness. Those for eight-frame hives weigh eight pounds as I make them. I make a rim of 3/4-inch cypress boards 1 1/2 inches deep, the same width as the hive, and 1 1/4 inches longer. The end cleats of this rim are made 2 inches wide, rabbeted on one edge 3/4 by 3/4 inch. The sides of the rim are rabbeted 3/4 by 3/4 on one edge, so that, when the rim is nailed together, 3/4-inch cypress boards will fit inside the rabbets for a ceiling, with no edges or ends of the boards exposed to the weather. The extra width of the end cleats is allowed to project on the underside to shed water. After the ceiling boards are in place the inch or so of space is filled with packing, and a top of 3/4-inch boards is nailed on, with the grain running opposite to those underneath. I put the ceiling boards crosswise of the hive, because the short boards will not be inclined to warp. Those for the top are placed lengthwise. The whole affair is covered with the best grade of asphalt roofing, or, better, with galvanized iron. The exposed wood is painted. It is rather hard to describe, and somewhat hard to make, unless one has some kind of circular saw. I make them on a Barnes saw, and they cost me about 20 cents each for material. They could be made and sold at a profit for 50 cents each. I would gladly give a dollar each for them rather than use any other cover that I have ever seen.

EARLY ATTENTION TO CALVES

Where There Is Abundance of Skim Milk It Is Profitable to Feed Heifers Until Year Old.

The length of time that a calf should be fed on skim milk depends upon the amount of milk available. Some feeders wean their calves at four months, but it is better practice to feed until they are six months. If there is plenty of skim milk, it is profitable to feed heifers until they are eight months or a year old. This insures better growth and development.

The calf will begin to eat grain at the time it is changed from whole milk to skim milk. The best way to get it started is by placing a little grain in its mouth after it has consumed the milk. It will like the taste, and will soon eat without assistance if the grain is placed within reach.

A great many feeders practice mixing the grain with the milk. This is a serious mistake, especially in case of corn or some other starchy food. The calf simply gulps it down, and does not masticate it. Indigestion often follows.

When the calf begins to eat grain readily, only such amount should be given as will be cleaned up at each meal. The calf's appetite is the best guide, but usually he will not eat over a half pound of grain a day for the first two months. From this time until six months old, a pound of grain a day will be sufficient.

FRESHNESS DESIRED IN EGGS

Those Reaching Consumer Within 24 Hours After Being Laid Are in Demand.

Freshness is something that every one desires in an egg. Eggs that reach the consumer within 24 hours, or soon thereafter, after being laid and are sterile and sanitary, represent the acme of achievement by the hen.

The general public has to depend on the honesty of dealers to insure getting the best eggs unless one has personal knowledge of some farm or poultry plant where eggs are a specialty, and fortunately the majority of dealers are reliable.

Speechless For Thanks.

Mena, Ark.—"I find Cardui to be all you represent," writes Mrs. H. B. York, of this city. "I suffered from womanly ailments, for nearly two years, before I tried Cardui. I have been so relieved since taking it. I cannot say enough in its praise. It has done me a world of good, and I recommend Cardui to all women." Cardui is over 50 years old, and the demand is greater today than ever. Cardui is the standard, tonic medicine, for women of every age. Would you like to be well and strong? Then take Cardui. "Yaas," said Uncle Silas, "my son Bill has got back from a special course he's been a-takin' at college, with a piece o' paper signed by the authorities sayin' as how he's an A. M. I dunno what an A. M. is, but I'm afraid they's some mistake about it, for Judg'in' from the time he gets down to breakfast he behaves more like a P. M. ter me."

Thought and Speech.

In spite of Emerson, consistency is a hobgoblin. Most of us cannot help feeling that what we have said one day we must abide by the next, and this makes us careful. We are brought up from youth to think twice before we speak, and so we do. We think, perhaps, three or four times; and when we have done our thinking we have begun to suspect that we are poor creatures anyway and might better not speak at all; which may be the case, or not.

The Older Woman.

Never did woman of mature years have so much attention paid to her wishes along sartorial lines as at the present time. "Anything will do for grandmother" has ceased to be the slogan since the capable middle-aged woman has evinced a desire to wear becoming clothes. Couturieres, always swift to feel the sartorial pulse, are busy making things for the quickened beating of the life of the woman of fifty.

MAKING GOOD COFFEE

CERTAIN RULES THAT WILL HAVE TO BE OBSERVED.

Buying It Green and Roasting It for Oneself Is Always Advisable—Material Never Should Be Placed in Tin.

Buy your coffee green and roast it yourself. Therein lies the main secret of the good cup of coffee. Coffee after having been long roasted loses its aroma and delicacy of flavor. From ready ground or ready roasted coffee the best results are impossible.

But if the roasting is not done properly the brew may be worse than the worst made from prepared coffee. If roasted too much the flavor is spoiled and the beverage injuriously affects the digestion. To prevent the decomposition of the acid, gum and resin in the coffee bean it is necessary that the roasting proceed uniformly without excess of heat. It is better to employ a closed receptacle, which should be shaken thoroughly about every ten minutes to prevent scorching. It should be removed from the oven in about forty-five minutes, when the coffee is reddish brown. An expert can tell by the odor when the roasting is sufficient.

Real Mocha coffee—something rarely seen, by the way—requires less roasting than any other because of the great amount of oil in the bean. In other coffees the dampness prevails over the oil and the excess of moisture disappears with the roasting. Mocha is roasted enough when it has a cinnamon color; other coffees should have more of a chestnut color. In no instance should the coffee approach blackness.

When properly roasted the coffee should be emptied on a stone or marble table, taking care to separate the beans. The sudden contact with the air and the cold surface arrests the evaporation of the essential oils. As soon as the coffee is cooled it should be placed in a glass jar and hermetically sealed. Never should it be placed in tin. It should be used as soon as possible after roasting, for no matter how carefully kept its aroma rapidly disappears. The best plan therefore is to roast only enough for one day. That insures the really good cup of coffee.

Every housewife should have a coffee mill and grind the coffee just before making the brew, grinding only enough for immediate use. When you do not use a percolator the best results are obtained by not grinding too finely. A tablespoonful of medium ground coffee to a cup of water and "one for the pot" is the usual rule for making good strong coffee.

The percolator has come to the aid of the young housewife who was uncertain of her skill under former methods.

Walnut Caramel Cake.

Cream one-half cupful of butter with two cupfuls of sugar and add the well-beaten yolks of four eggs. Sift together three cupfuls of pastry flour and three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and add to the mixture alternate with one cup of milk. Flavor with one teaspoonful of vanilla, add one cupful of floured and chopped walnut meats, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites, bake in a loaf and cover with caramel frosting.

Caramel Frosting.—Boil three-fourths cupful of thin cream, one-half cupful of sugar and one tablespoonful of caramel and flavor with one teaspoon of vanilla. To make the caramel, melt one-half cupful of sugar, stir in gradually one-third cupful of water and let boil up once.

Black Currant Souffle.

Have two medium sized souffle dishes. Take two pounds of black currants, add four ounces sugar, two spoonfuls of water. Cook to extract the juice and press through a fine sieve. Melt one ounce of white leaf gelatin and add, and then whip in half a pint of thick cream. Place in dishes and fill, so that when the paper is removed the souffle will be half an inch beyond the top of the dish. Keep on ice an hour or two before serving, pipe, or entirely cover the top with whipped cream.

Tomato Canapes.

This is a pretty luncheon dish as well as a substantial one and easy to make into the bargain. Slice large, well-shaped tomatoes without peeling them and cut slices of bread to fit. Fry the bread and lay a tomato slice on each piece. Sprinkle with chopped green pepper, bits of butter and a little grated cheese. Season well and broil till the tomato is heated thoroughly. Serve hot.

Nut Patties.

Beat one egg, without separating, until light. Add gradually one cup of powdered sugar and beat until very light. Add five tablespoonfuls of flour, one cupful of finely chopped nut meats, and stir until thoroughly and smoothly mixed. Drop by the tablespoonful on greased tins and bake for 15 minutes, or until they are a light brown. In a quick oven.

Pepper Relish.

One dozen red peppers, one dozen green peppers, 15 medium onions. Remove all the stems and seeds and put through grinder. Pour boiling water on and let stand ten minutes, drain. Add three cupfuls of vinegar, cupful and a half of sugar, three tablespoonfuls salt. Boil 15 minutes. Seal in small jars. Delicious with cold meat.
